Fast forward a few months

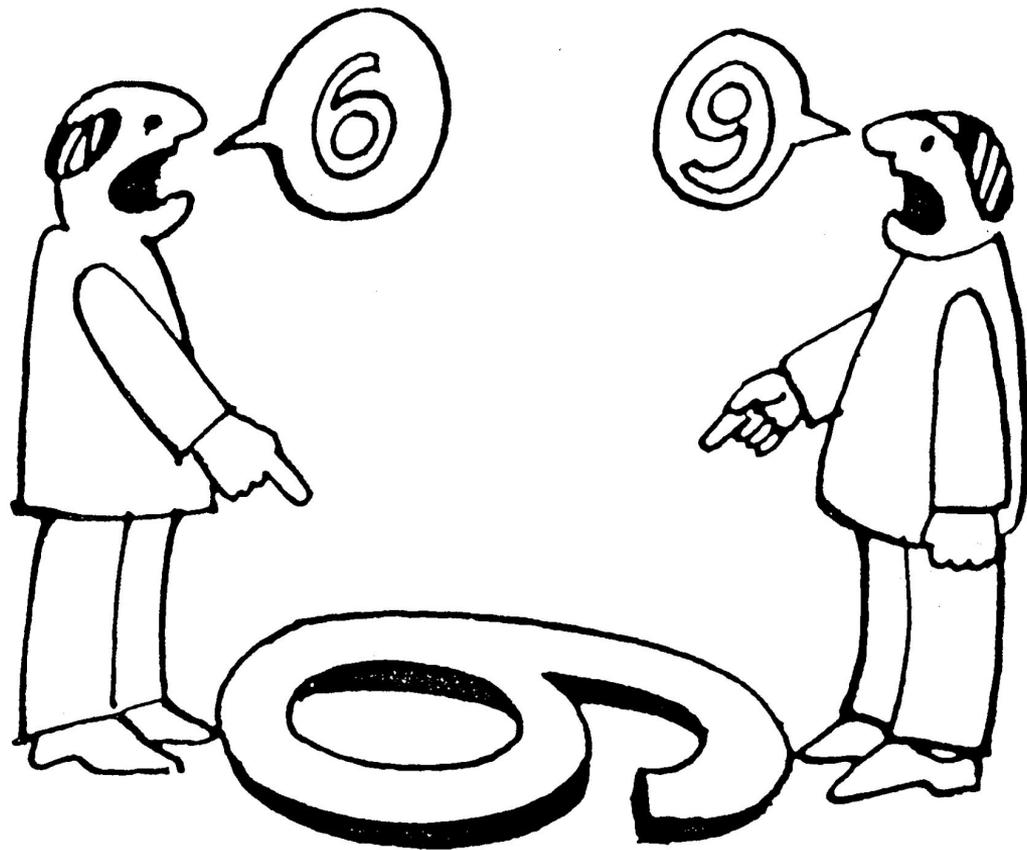

Anna leads multiple teams

How come she progressed so quickly while others haven't?

1. BE SELF-AWARE

What do you mean by being self-aware?

Am I the first person with question X?

Anna

“Hey boss, how does ‘great’ look like?”

2. BE REPLACEABLE

Management

'Give Away Your Legos' and Other Commandments for Scaling Startups

Molly Graham has seen a lot. Her team at Google leapt from 25 to 125 in just 9 months. During her 4+ years at Facebook, the company exploded from 500 employees serving 80 million users to 5,500 employees and over 1.1 billion users. (Her job was to sort out the culture, compensation, and performance systems to help make that possible — no big

When you start adding people. People get nervous.

When you start adding people. People get nervous.

- Is that new person taking my job?
- What if they don't do it the right way?
- What if they're better than me at it?

If you want to grow as fast as your company, you have to give away your job every couple months.

3. FOCUS ON COMMUNICATION

Everything that used to come naturally is now a struggle

WRITING IS THINKING

And... You also need to over-communicate

4. BE EFFICIENT WITH YOUR TIME

“Tell me how you spend your time and I will tell you what your priorities really are”

An open calendar is shown, with a black rectangular text box overlaid in the center. The calendar pages are white with a grid layout. The numbers 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, and 29 are visible in red ink. The text box contains the phrase "Reflect on your time" in white, bold, sans-serif font. The background is dark and out of focus, showing a wooden desk and a pencil.
